TOTALLY REAL OFFICE EVENTS

My friends, the walls have been breeched, and we are taking on water. While it is not quite time for us all to abandon ship (women and interns first), I do want to put you all on yellow alert.

You may or may not be aware, but multiple times in the past few weeks our offices have been leaking. Water pipes or melting snow, we are being attacked on all sides.

The good news is that it’s only a matter of time before we can host our own Polar Bear Plunge. Dan has graciously offered to let us use one of the empty offices in 21 for this event.

Tickets are $3 online or $5 at the door. All proceeds go to getting low-wattage waterproof floor heaters. This way we can avoid both electrocution AND tripped breakers.

Love is in the air. Love is in the shadows. Love is around every corner. You cannot escape Love.

There are SIX ‘Love Ninjas’ hiding around the offices inside Old Main.

The first TEN PEOPLE to correctly give Lindsey the location of all six ninjas will WIN ICE CREAM.

(Please don’t move the ninjas.)

USU Historical Tidbits

99 Years Ago

We see here some gentlemanly skiers cascading down Old Main Hill at some point in the 1920s. In the far back, holding a long pole, you can clearly see Rick Allen waiting for a clear track so he can take his turn shredding some powder.

Fuzzballs of the Office

Jill Hansen has two adorable dogs – Harper, a 10 month old Golden Retriever, and Sammie, a 12 year old Yellow Lab.

Sammie is the ‘neighborhood dog’, and can often be found walking the neighbor kids to and from the school bus. Harper is Sammie’s impish younger sibling – still learning, and fond of chewing things into oblivion. Such is life when you are still a puppy.
